

Consultant, Sydney

BTS is a global consulting and learning company that is the global leader in building strategy alignment and effective execution through the use of business simulations and experiential learning programs. BTS partners with leading companies to build capability, engagement, commitment and action around key strategic priorities.

BTS has more than 300 highly talented professionals serving over 400 clients, including more than 50 of the US Fortune 100 companies and 25 of the Global Fortune 100 world's largest corporations. Our practice areas include Strategic Alignment & Business Acumen, Leadership, Safety & Risk, and Sales Excellence. More information is available on bts.com and btsau.com.

Our Sydney office is seeking a consultant with 2 to 4 years of business experience to work as part of our Australian team. The role involves working as part of a talented, energetic team to sell, design and deliver all BTS solutions, but in particular our solutions which are designed to build strategic alignment and business acumen.

You will be expected to:

- Manage small scale projects
- Build positive client relationships
- Contribute to effective teamwork
- Contribute to business development
- Contribute to the development and delivery of our client solutions

Tertiary qualifications in business or finance are essential, with an MBA or similar qualification preferred.

Strong communication skills and a can-do attitude are essential.

Given the nature of our business, the opportunity exists for the right person to be given considerable freedom, responsibility and opportunities for advancement at an early stage.